

They want to register each airplane that has the company according to a unique code number of people that fit and its model. Each aircraft has a number of seats identified by a unique number.

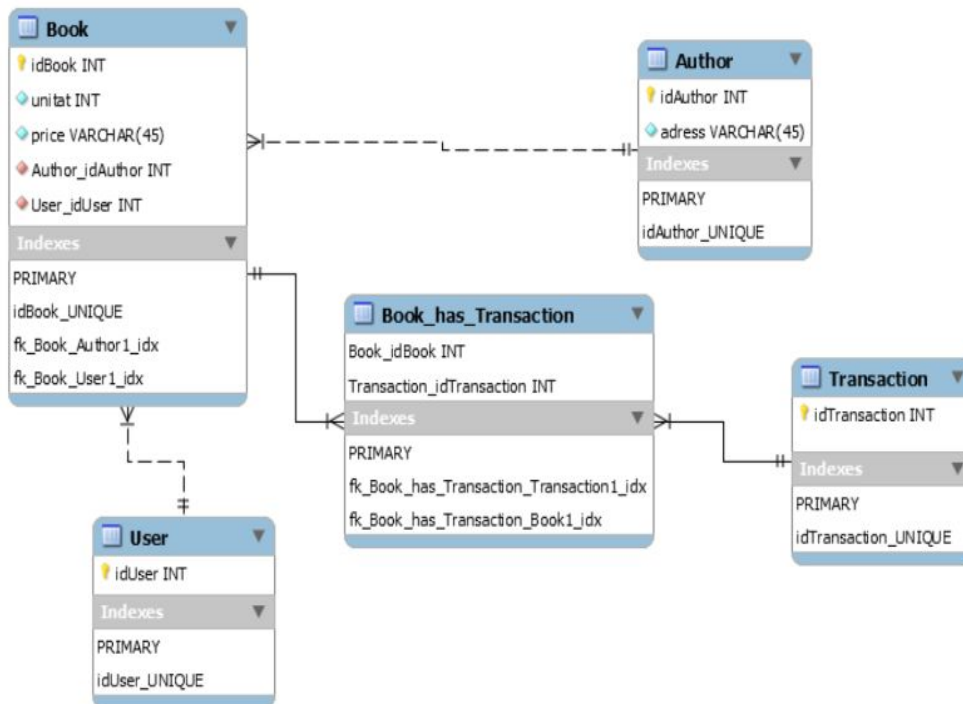

We have a bookstore. We want to store the stock of all the boxes that are on sale. A table has an identifier, a price and an author, although there are anonymous author's tables. The boxes that have been sold must be registered, identifying the buyer with a name and a ID.
